THE BEE HIVE.

A MULTITUDE OF

Blanket - Bargains!

Our large purchases of Blankets were made long before the advance in wool and cottons. We are in a position to sell you Blankets at last year's prices, although they have advanced 30 to 40 per cent. Our stock is larger and more varied than ever before, which means a great deal. We are showing a full sized Cotton Blanket in gray or white at 49c the pair. Better grades and larger sizes at 79c, 85c and $1.25. Prices on Woolen Blankets start at $2.39 for one that is worth $3. A superfine all-wool Blanket in white and plaid, weighing five pounds and sold by others at $5, is forced here at $3.95.

Two Special Leaders In Our Cloak Department.

The very large cloak business we have already done this season demonstrates the excellence of our stock and that our prices are way below others. For this week we are showing a full lined all-wool Korse Jacket in black or castor at $4.95, a splendidly made Seal Plush Cape, trimmed all around with fur, at $4.95. Without exaggeration these garments are worth fully $7.50.

Headquarters for Underwear.

We have always had the reputation of carrying the largest stock of Underwear in town for men, women and children. Our present stock more than maintains our good reputation of former seasons. There is nothing in the Underwear line but what you'll find it here at prices always less than others.

LEWIS COUNTY'S VOTE

It Will Be Counted As It Was Cast, For Taylor and Cox.

GOEBEL'S BULLDOZERS BEATEN

The Goebel Fraud Commissioners of Lewis county met again at Vaneburg yesterday—and so did about 1,000 honest voters of that county, who had come to see that they were not to be disfranchised on the say-so of a Goebel runner for the sole purpose of making Goebel Governor when the people of the state had elected Taylor.

The Commission is composed of John Cox and Dr. L. A. Grimes, Goebelites, and Mr. McEldowney, a Republican—the latter having no more chance than the veritable snowball in hades.

It will be remembered that on Friday the Burtonville Precinct, which gave Taylor and Cox 76 and 74 majority respectively, was disputed, for the reason that the election officers had failed to sign the stub-book, although five certificates, all the figures agreeing with those in the stub-book, had been made out and properly signed.

To amend this matter the election officers made due explanation as to how the omission occurred, and all agreed to be in Vaneburg Saturday and sign the stub-book; but Mr. James N. Kehoe of this city put in an appearance and in the interest of Goebel he issued a ukase that there should not be a count of the vote as it was cast.

In Mower's Precinct the officers had neglected to certify to the vote except that for Governor, Senator and Representative, and Mr. Goebel gang agreed to throw the balance of the ticket to the demitition bow wows.

This was the condition of things when the partisan Board met yesterday; but the presence of so many earnest citizens in town, with some sound legal advice from both Democratic and Republican lawyers who know law when they see it, cleared the atmosphere considerably and enabled the befogged Goebelite Board to see its way clear to admit Mower's Precinct, and agree to admit Burtonville Precinct also when it assembles again on Thursday.

Throughout the sitting of the Board yesterday there was perfect quiet—especially on the part of one gentleman who had gone there to see that Goebel got all that was coming to him.

Mr. Kehoe was not present. But the honest men of old Lewis will be there again on Thursday to see that their votes are counted as they cast them—

The regular meeting of DeKalb Lodge No. 12, I. O. O. F., this evening at 7 o'clock. Work in the Second Degree. A full attendance desired.

Mrs. T. B. Kennedy of East Second street was taken suddenly ill last night, and for a time her condition was serious. She is somewhat improved this morning.

Beginning tomorrow, ladies are cordially invited to bowl free, from 9 a. m. to 12 m., for the remainder of this week, at the Maysville Bowling Alleys, Sutton street below Second.

THE LEDGER was in error in stating the election of Mr. Thomas S. Thomson as Treasurer of Brown county, O. Mr. Thomson was defeated by his Democratic opponent by over 1,200 majority.

The missionary institute of the Maysville District, M. E. Church, South, convened at the Southern M. E. Church last evening at 7 o'clock. Addresses were made by Rev. B. E. Lancaster of Carlisle, Rev. W. W. Spates of Flemingsburg and Rev. J. D. Gardner of Hillsboro. The meeting will be held this afternoon and tonight.

Pecor's Drugstore will be presented with a sample bottle of Boschee's German Syrup, free of charge. Only one bottle given to one person, and none to children without order from parents.

No throat or lung remedy ever had such a sale as Boschee's German Syrup in all parts of the civilized world. Twenty years ago millions of bottles were given away, and your druggist will tell you its success was marvelous. It is really the only Throat and Lung Remedy generally endorsed by physicians.

75-cent bottle will cure or prove its value. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

THE CRISIS IN KENTUCKY.

Governor Bradley Has Full Power to Prevent Mr. Goebel's Usurpation of Office.

Lexington Herald

The framers of the Federal Constitution and of the state Constitution attempted to provide for every contingency which political wisdom could foresee. The powers granted to the Federal and state Governments were supposed to be sufficient for all possible emergencies. Whether they were or not has been often the subject of earnest discussion and profound meditation. Whether they now are may also become a vital question in Kentucky.

In the face of the threatened seizure of the executive and legislative departments of the state, it may be well for us to look at some of the powers which can be invoked and prevent the success of this revolution conspiracy. Section 73 of our Constitution is:

"He (the Governor) shall commence the execution of the duties of his office on the fifth Tuesday succeeding his election, and shall continue the execution thereof until his successor shall have qualified."

It will be seen by this that the term of Governor Bradley does not necessarily terminate at the expiration of four years from his inauguration, but that it may be indefinitely prolonged: for he "shall continue in the execution of the duties of his office until his successor shall have qualified." "Qualified" necessarily means legally qualified, constitutionally qualified, and of this Governor Bradley must of necessity decide before he turns over to any person the office with which he is entrusted. He is not the judge of the qualifications, nor is he the judge of the election of his successor, but he is necessarily compelled to act for himself in determining whether he "shall continue in the execution of the duties of his office," or whether he shall cease so to "continue." That is, if a person claims to be the successor of the Governor, that Governor must pass upon that claim. His decision must be at his peril and it can only be temporary. In other words, before Mr. Goebel can take his seat as Governor or legally exercise any of the functions of Governor, Governor Bradley must cease to be Governor. There cannot be two Governors de facto at the same time. The Governor cannot, in obedience to his oath of office, cease to be Governor, cease to continue the performance of his duties, until he decides that his successor has qualified. We content ourselves this morning with simply calling attention to this provision of the Constitution and stating its constitutional effect.

The fourth section of Article 4 of the Constitution of the United States is:

"The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of Government and shall protect each of them against invasions, and on application of the Legislature or of the executive (when the Legislature cannot convene) against domestic violence."

This section has been construed in two elaborate and very able decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States: Luther vs. Borden, 7 Howard, 1, and Texas vs. White & Wallace, 70 Under the Statutes of the United States, when Congress is not in session the President alone has the power to decide who is the executive of a state, upon whose application the powers conferred in this section can be invoked and applied. When Congress is in session, it is in the power of Congress so to decide. That is, if Kentucky should be so unfortunate as to appear to have two claimants for the Governorship, and domestic violence should arise, each, or both, could make application to the President for sufficient force to suppress that violence, and it would be for the President to decide which one he would recognize, which application he would obey and to whom he would give assistance.

These are both extremely important guarantees of the rights and liberties of the citizens of the respective states. They are among the most valuable guarantees in either state or Federal Constitution. Under them Kentucky may find a peaceful and efficient solution of the threatened difficulties.

There are other resources and powers to which we do not care to call attention today. On yesterday we took the liberty of declaring that Mr. Goebel could not become Governor of Kentucky unless he was legally elected, except through the cowardice of the Republican party and those entrusted by it with power. We have frequently expressed the conviction that what has been done during this canvass, what was done in the Legislature four years ago and two years ago, and what is threatened, would never have been undertaken if those who led in these transactions did not believe in the timidity of their opponents. They were reckless of consequence, they were desperate. They were convinced that their opponents were conservative and timid and would not resist any outrage committed under the forms of law and within the letter of any statute. They also reckoned upon the habitual obedience of our people to the law as it is written and to the officers of the law. We have been trained to a reverence for the forms of law, for obedience to what is done in the name of the law, and to submission to the acts of the officers of the law. These men have counted upon this habitual state of mind. Therefore, they have done what the Scriptures have damned, they have "framed mischief by law."

But there are other laws than those, and, if necessary, other forces can be employed. Governor Bradley has shown a courageous purpose to avoid no responsibility. We believe that he has the civic as well as the personal courage to do whatever his conviction of duty dictates. We, therefore, most earnestly invoke his most thoughtful and anxious consideration of these provisions of the Constitution of Kentucky and the United States. He has enormous responsibility, but to him have been given great powers. Without his seeking, there has been forced upon him the decision of momentous questions. We have profound confidence that he will meet them in such a manner as to justify the trust that has been imposed in him and to increase the esteem and respect in which he is held by the people of his native state.

If Mr. Goebel is elected by the legal voters of Kentucky, even if his majority be only one, he ought to be inaugurated, and all law-abiding citizens will submit to the result. If he has been fraudulently elected upon the returns as announced at the doors of the various Precincts at the close of the polls on Tuesday, we would advise the submission of the people to that fraudulent election. At everyone of the polls the announcement was made, That announcement in this case ought to be final. No subsequent tampering with the polls, no violent or lawless throwing out of Precincts, no base action of Election Commissioners by which the result as reached and announced at the close of the polls on Tuesday, ought to be tolerated, and we believe that the people of Kentucky will support with enthusiasm and resolute decision whatever Governor Bradley and those who are charged with responsibility will do to prevent the consummation of that crime.

WITH A BEER GLASS.

Joe O'Donnell Smashed Rees King's Face Last Evening.

Last evening about 8 o'clock Rees King of Aberdeen received a very ugly, painful and dangerous wound in the face at the hands of Joe O'Donnell.

King says he was sitting at a table in John Eitel's saloon and was joking O'Donnell, thinking all the time that Joe was taking it as a joke, when he suddenly turned and struck him full in the face between the eyes with a beer glass, tearing open the flesh on the nose, lacerating the flesh around the eyes and probably putting out one of his eyes.

Dr. James Shackelford dressed his wounds, and King was sent home.

The trial will be this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

MADE A HIT.

Keystone Dramatic Company a Good One—Go and See It Tonight.

A crowded house greeted the opening of the Keystone Dramatic Company at the Washington Opera-house last night. The five-act comedy drama, "Escaped From the Law," was the opening bill, and it was a successful one, as each member of the company sustained his respective part well, while the specialties were far above the average.

The Eldons, old Maysville favorites, are with the company, and they were far better last night than they ever were when here at Electric Park.

Tonight "The Signal of Liberty" will be the play, and a crowded house should be given the troupe.

This play is mounted with special scenery and a fine production is promised. New specialties will be introduced.

The prices—10, 20 and 30 cents—are within the reach of all.

Seats on sale at Nelson's.

Wedding Gifts.

Many of our new fall purchases are in. Even if they were not you'd have no trouble selecting something from our large and varied stock that would please the most exacting. Sterling Silverware, Cut Glass, artistic Bric-a-Brac from all the celebrated patterns in Europe, beautiful Lamps, Pictures and ever so many things that we have not space to mention. Come in and see how well you can be suited for a small amount of money.
